

Patient Decision Aids:

Decision tools for hemophilia treatment

This is a DECISION AID for patients with hemophilia and their parents and caregivers. The goal of this decision aid is to help patients/parents and doctors talk to each other in order to make decisions about treatment.

The decision aid includes evidence-based information about the pros and cons of each treatment option. All treatment options are acceptable.

The first time you read this decision aid, your doctor should be present to help you and your family members understand the information. You should also take this document home after reviewing it with your doctor.

When you are discussing the decision with your doctor, think about the following:

- What are your expectations about treatment?
- Do you have any concerns or fears about treatment?
- Do you have any questions about the treatment options?
- Which benefits and harms matter most to you?
- Are other things important to helping you make a decision?
- Do you have enough information?
- What role do you prefer in making your choice?
